FP: Topic Proposal

For my final project, I have decided to make a website about how technology has impacted many individuals. This topic is significant for me right now because everything about technology is very interesting to me. I have used technology ever since I was younger. At the schools that I have attended, I have used many computers that were powered by both Windows and Mac operating systems. I have used technology to help me make contact with people, do schoolwork, and shopping. For me and everyone that I know, technology has made a huge impact on many people's lives. Nowadays, technology is a part of everyone's daily lives and everyone I know uses it.

The first person that I will interview for this project is my mother. She uses technology for both her job at an insurance company and at home. The second person that I will interview for this project is my aunt. She also uses technology for both her job and at home. The third person that I will interview for this project is my cousin. Just like my mother and aunt, she uses technology in her life as well. I am going to be interviewing these three people for my final project because I believe that technology has impacted their lives.

Between now and the end of the semester, I am hoping to learn more about how technology can have a huge impact on a lot of people's lives. As I mentioned before, technology is a part of everyone's daily lives nowadays and everyone I know uses it. I am also hoping to learn more about how an interview could help influence the content layout of the website for the final project. The three people that I will interview will influence the content of this website. In conclusion, I am very interested in working with this topic for the final project.
